- Hard inquiries are made by lenders after you apply for credit. These inquiries may affect your credit score. This is because most credit scoring models look at how recently and frequently you apply for credit.
- Soft inquiries are reviews of your credit file when you have not sought to establish a new credit account. They include reviews of existing accounts by lenders, prescreening inquiries by prospective lenders, and your requests for your annual credit report. These won't affect your credit score.
